SOLUTIONS IN SPACE

Satellite navigation experts Garmin, at Romsey, pinpointed just the expertise they needed to create the additional storage space they required to cope with rapid growth in business.

They called in Spaceway, the space solutions company in Romsey. After initial project design Spaceway installed two mezzanine floors, each of 5,000 sq ft, along with racking and shelving and a powered reversible belt conveyor. The project was completed with partitioning, lighting, smoke detection and an integral swipe card security system.

“The impact that reconfiguring our space is having on our business is significant. Not only have we managed to increase our internal space substantially – we have made improvements to our operating systems at the same time,” says Peter Wyatt, Logistics Manager for Garmin.
