Flushed with success? Following a recent move to new warehouse premises, Southampton-based MultiKwik, a leading wc pan connector manufacturer, needed extra storage space to cope with their success.

Romsey based Spaceway assessed what was needed and specified new narrow aisle racking throughout the warehouse. The system was set up a such a way as to allow the company to house any size pallet, so providing a very flexible solution.

Multikwik now has a functional warehouse with ample room to accommodate its complete product range - so making best use of all the available space.

"Spaceway South provided an excellent service and completed the project in half the estimated time," said Harry Chagger, Financial Controller at MultiKwik. "The workmanship is outstanding and we are now working with Spaceway on the complete refurbishment of our office space."

Multikwik manufacture adjustable bends and branches for waste, soil and underground drainage systems.

Ends.
