

Solutions in Action – P&O Ferries

The challenge

Due to continued success, P&O Ferries decided they needed new seating for their call centre in Dover to accommodate the ever-expanding workforce.

Spaceway's approach

Spaceway Interiors Business Manager, Ian Amos, worked closely with P&O Ferries to provide the best product for their needs. Ian explains "It was critical that we provided a solution that met all of the requirements. We were able to do this with ease and within their budget."

The ACF Specialist Call Centre Task Chair was specified and then manufactured with a special P&O Ferries fabric cover. Despite the short lead time the finished chairs were delivered on time directly from the manufacturer.

Benefits delivered

The process went smoothly and Spaceway's commitment to providing up to date information throughout the course of the transaction was greatly appreciated. The chairs have integrated well into the contact centre and everyone who was issued with a new seat was delighted.
