Box It with Spaceway

Today with the Data Protection Act, tax law and probate requirements, a business can soon start to feel snowed under with their archive filing responsibilities. The document storage company, Box-It provides a professional storage service for office documentation and makes the business of storage simple, efficient, cost effective and hassle-free.

Established Winchester in 1988, Box-It now has over ten franchises nationwide including Edinburgh, South Wales, Nottingham, Newmarket, Leamington Spa and Milton Keynes

Their clients range from accountants, solicitors, pharmaceutical companies and organisations within the defence and health sectors. Confidentiality and security is therefore paramount to Box-It's success.

Due to their continued success, the Winchester company recently called in Spaceway, the space solutions company to assist them again in their expansion plans. Simon McCowen, Managing Director of Box-It explains “Box-It is going from strength to strength; we require shelving for over 60,000 boxes each year. Due to our continued expansion, we called in Romsey based Spaceway, to provide additional document storage for our new premises in Winchester. They introduced to the warehouse the use of a narrow aisle compact scissor lift instead of our original tiered walkway system.

This has greatly improved the picking speeds of the warehouse operatives and has proved to be a very cost-effective system.

“The contract was completed within four weeks and we are now able to store up to nearly 80,000 boxes in a variety of box designs and sizes. It is the fourth warehouse that Spaceway have completed for us on time and without any over-run in costs.”

In addition to their main business a franchise division of Box It was formed in 1994 to provide unique business opportunities for a variety of organisations. For example, the division has recently worked in partnership with farmers who have been badly hit by BSE, Foot and Mouth, fall in grain prices etc. Box-It was able to re-utilise their redundant farm buildings and provide an additional income arm to their business with Spaceway’s help.
